Congressional Finance Experts Forecast
Tax Revision

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A forecast that taxes will not be increased and may, in fact, be "slightly reduced," was made today by Secretary Morgenthau and congressional tax leaders after a conference with President Roosevelt.

The treasury head, Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee, and Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee, at a joint press conference that followed, said improved business conditions had so fortified the treasury that no new or increased taxes will be necessary at the next session of congress.

Plan Tax Study
In addition, they announced an immediate study of the whole tax structure, including the law enacted this spring placing corporate taxation upon a new basis.

Secretary Morgenthau and Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee gathered with the President, just prior to his departure from Washington on a flood area inspection trip, to study a recommendation made to the chief executive by Mr. Morgenthau that:

"Any changes in the tax structure should, therefore, not be in the direction of increased taxes. But this very situation makes it possible and timely for us now to consider revision of the tax laws with the purpose of removing any inequities or unnecessary administrative difficulties that may be inherent in the law and abating or modifying taxes that create unfairness to consumers or to trade or have other disadvantages which outweigh their revenue yield."

Nuisance Taxes Out
Harrison told reporters that if the administrative costs and difficulties of some specific taxes were found to be so great that they could be repealed with little loss of revenue, such action would be recommended.

Morgenthau, however, told newsmen he referred to "miscellaneous taxes," commonly called "nuisance taxes."

"Business improvement is at such a pace that we are going to reach a balanced budget much earlier than we expected," Harrison said.

HOLD SAILOR IN MYSTERY

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Police arrested William P. Shea, a sailor, for questioning today in the murder of Raoul Louis Cherbouh, whose chain-wrapped body was found near Dumbarton bridge on the eastern shore of San Francisco Bay.

Shea and Thomas Sullivan, both sailors, disappeared from their hotel rooms about the time Cherbouh vanished from the hotel.

Hunters Oil Guns---But Why?

By FRANK ORR
And this, Mr. Hunter, is a deer. It has horns, four legs, and a stubby tail. Besides a snout and ears. Alive he is a deer. Shot and cooked, he becomes a venison. If you're lucky and don't shoot somebody's cow, in which case he is a beefsteak, and that doesn't count. But don't shoot him. You can't. If he's in a national forest, in a recreation area, in a public highway, or if you find him splashing in the surf on the state's beach, you can't shoot him. And if he's in somebody's back yard you can't, either, unless the owner says so.

Which makes the deer-hunting situation in Orange county about as exciting as an evening at the Old Maid's home. There just isn't anything to it.

Orange county deer hunters, as they have for the past five or six years, will have to seek greener pastures. Because if there would happen to be a stretch of ground that isn't covered by the no-shooting regulations, it's probably a bit of desert that no self-respecting deer would be found in anyway.

All Europe Tensely Watches Spanish Shambles

Moral: Don't Hunt
Ow! By Motorbike;
It's Hard on Legs

Latest wrinkle in hunting—shooting owls from a motorcycle at night.

The thrill was overbalanced today for Lyle David Spencer, 21, 1452 Cypress street, who tried it last night. Today he was in St. Joseph's hospital with a badly injured leg, the result of an accidental discharge of his pistol.

He and LeRoy Carse, 1124 West Seventeenth street, were riding along Palisades road in search of the elusive owl.

Spencer's motorcycle jerked, the gun went off, and he was rushed to the hospital. His leg was fractured by the shot, attendants reported.

TRADE PACT FORECAST

Barriers to German-U. S.
Commerce Expected To Be Lowered

By STANLEY P. RICHARDSON
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)
WASHINGTON.—An early lowering of trade barriers between the United States and Germany was forecast in reliable quarters today following presentation by Ambassador Hans Luther of an important note on the subject to William Phillips, acting secretary of state.

The content of the note has not yet been revealed officially but it was learned authoritatively that it conveyed the German government's agreement to discontinue wide subsidizing exports to the United States. This practice impeded the United States more than a month ago to levy extra duties against German imports into this country.

Withdraw Duties
The German government's action was expected in well-informed quarters here to result in a withdrawal of the treasury decree imposing the excess taxes in the form of "countervailing duties."

The German move, it was stated, would apply to all contracts for exports to the United States concluded since Aug. 2.

Although the German government's decision generally is expected by informed quarters here to remove such artificial obstacles to German-American trade, it was predicted nevertheless that an increase in commerce between the two countries might not result, due in large part to the scarcity of foreign exchange in Germany.

Outlaw "Ask" Marks
Henceforth, German purchases in the United States must be paid for in marks convertible into foreign exchange, whereas formerly through a system of export bounties paid to exporters, German buyers were able to buy in the United States with so-called "ask" marks, which were not actually taken out of the country.

LAGUNA SURF TAKES LIFE OF WOMAN

Riptide Sweeps Victim Off Shore; Breakers
Keep Guards Busy

Swept away from shore by a treacherous riptide, Mrs. Ruth Theima Parker, 39, of 1154 Orange drive, Los Angeles, perished in the pounding surf at Goff Island, three miles south of Laguna Beach, yesterday afternoon.

Life Guards William Walter and Ralph Kinney responded to a call from Goff Island and brought the woman ashore, where the Laguna fire department and Dr. A. H. Wightman worked desperately with resuscitation equipment. The body was taken to the Laguna Beach Funeral home, where Coroner Earl Abbey announced there would be no inquest.

Guards Kept Busy
Mrs. Parker is survived by her husband, Robert K. Parker, who accompanied her to the beach; one son, Robert, Jr., 15, and a daughter, Jean, 17. Funeral arrangements will be made in Los Angeles.

Dangerous riptides and roaring breakers in the surf kept the Laguna life-guard squad and fire department first-aid workers busy throughout the afternoon, it was reported. Three calls for first aid were registered, with four swimmers assisted to shore in the Victoria drive district, including one woman who had been washed from a rock by a towering breaker.

Warning Flag Up
A red signal flag, warning bathers that the surf was too dangerous for swimming, was displayed throughout the day at the life-guard station on the main beach. Although high waves pounded other beach communities during the evening, no damage was reported. Another high tide at 6:25 p. m. today probably will bring even rougher water, life guards warned.

LEGION POST TO S. A. MAN

A Santa Ana man and a Tustin woman today returned with new honors for Orange county from the annual American Legion department convention in Hollywood.

Ben Lieberman, Santa Ana tire salesman, was elected by unanimous vote as commander of the fifth area, composed of Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial counties.

Mrs. Pauline Cleary, Tustin, was named twenty-first district vice-president of the women's auxiliary.

Lieberman, a member of the Garden Grove post of the Legion, is past commander of that post and also past commander of the twenty-first district.

Woman Slugged On Head by Man

A tall, blond man clad in a brown shirt and tan trousers, who slugged a woman over the head and fled last night, was being sought by city police today.

Officers were called last night after Johana Jones, 815 North Van Ness avenue, was struck on the head by the stranger. Her screams attracted neighbors, and the man ran away, she told officers. Police escorted her home.

Rats 'On the Spot'

S.A. Plunder Million a Year,
So WPA Opens War on 'Em

By PAUL C. BODENHAMER
Every morning at 8 o'clock a crew of 14 men start their rounds of stores, warehouses and homes, taking in the night's catch and rebaiting the 1340 traps the city has furnished as part of its share in a rodent control project which has been in operation for two years. By noon they have gathered from 80 to more than 100 of the Rattus family.

These are buried or burned in the city dump. A few are taken as a sample and dissected at the county hospital laboratory for signs of bubonic plague, which rats are known to carry.

So far, reports Dr. Sutherland, no plague has been discovered, but the tests are a safeguard toward preventing the dread disease.

Legion's Conclave Ends in Furore

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Hollywood bid farewell today to California's Legionnaires, their tempers cooled after a near riot marred the close of their eighteenth annual convention. Shouts, yells and flying fists preceded double adjournment last night, with state and even national figures of the American Legion in active roles.

The furore was touched off by the resignation of James Fisk, department adjutant for 14 years, who quit in protest when the delegates voted to fire his three women office assistants and replace them with aides with war service records.

As retiring Department Commander Dan Emmett quickly adjourned the convention without installing the incoming officers, 1500 Legionnaires milled in disorder about the convention hall, a film studio sound stage.

Bert Mann, vice commander in charge of the fourth area, dashed to the microphone and demanded a roll call vote to reconvene and reconsider the women's ouster. They had served 10, 10½ and 14 years, respectively.

Officials and delegates hurled angry words. Emmett and Mann (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

FILM AIRPLANE EXPLODES

GLENDALF. (AP)—A two-engine airplane, chartered by a film company from the American Air Lines, caught fire and exploded today at the Grand Central Air Terminal as it was being made ready for a flight. No one was injured.

The engine backfired and set fire to the lower wing. When the upper wings, holding the gas tanks, caught fire, the tanks exploded, shooting blazing fuel oil into tail assembly, and then the whole ship blazed furiously.

Laguna Councilmen Keep Hands Off 'Bare Skinners'

Although hairy masculine chests, bared to the gaze of an assertedly blushing feminine population, popped up to bother the Laguna Beach city council last night, the council declined to assert itself as an arbiter of styles in beach attire.

"Let the whole community worry over the problem," seemed to be the consensus of opinion on the puzzled city board, bothered the past week by requests from clubwomen that more clothing and less bare male skin be exhibited in the business section.

Councilman Randolph Reinbridge, chairman of a special committee appointed to investigate the bare skin business, said he thought it outside the realm of the council's activities to dictate styles for the beach and recommended that a citizens' committee be appointed for the purpose of submitting recommendations.

"It is a matter which concerns the entire community and on its solution will depend whether Laguna will retain its standing as a high class residence community or become just another beach town," Reinbridge said.

REVOLT PACT SNAGS; FEAR EXPRESSED

France Bars Recruiting
As America Sends Two Destroyers Abroad

By The Associated Press.
Government troops pressed every advantage today in Spain's civil war in a supreme effort to speedily crush the revolt.

But in a surprise attack on San Sebastian, Bay of Biscay resort, Fascist rebel airplanes scored direct hits on several important points, and the cruiser Almirante Cervera lay off shore prepared to throw shells into the beleaguered town.

Demands that the government surrender went unheeded.

Rebels projected a new offensive against Estepona, near Gibraltar, and reinforcements were dispatched to Algeciras, which was under fire of government warships.

German With Rebels
The rebel radio station at Seville announced 40 officers and soldiers in the Madrid government's air force were executed after being captured in the storming of San Rafael Espinar.

The same announcement reported the arrival of a "German captain" at Burgos, headquarters of the rebel provisional government. He was not otherwise identified.

Four British airplanes, two for the rebels and two for the government, left London for Spain, and two Dutch planes took off at the same time from London for Lisbon, destined, it was said, for the rebels in Burgos.

ASTOR FIGHT IS ENDED

Custody of Child to Be Divided by Terms of New Agreement

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Superior Judge Goodwin J. Knight approved a settlement agreement today in the sensational child custody fight between Mary Astor, film star, and her former husband, Dr. Franklin Thorpe.

The judge approved the agreement dividing custody of the couple's young daughter, Marylyn, after an hour's conference with Miss Astor, Dr. Thorpe and their lawyers, who reached the agreement last night.

Joseph Anderson, Dr. Thorpe's chief counsel, said Miss Astor will not regain possession of her diary, and even Judge Knight "will not know where it is."

Judge Knight said he would enter judgment at 3 p. m. today embodying the agreement.

25,000 MEN FIGHT FIRE

ST. PAUL. (AP)—Towering flames spread swiftly through a northern wilderness today despite the efforts of 25,000 grimy men who labored under increasing hazards.

"Anything may happen." Hundreds of men were picked up on the streets of International Falls, Minn., and enlisted along adjacent highways. They joined 1,000 others striving to head off an uncontrolled blaze on the international boundary north of Kabetogama lake which broadened after blackening 6,000 acres.

Trucks rushed CCC reinforcements and 8,000 feet of hose to the Tom lake front in the Grand Portage State Forest in northeastern Minnesota. The crest fire there remained unchecked after charring 6,000 acres of virgin timber.

Some 1,000 men failed to check flames creeping over new wood land in the Markham section of Minnesota. It flared anew after leveling 22 farm homes over the week-end.

Divorces Husing

Edward B. (Ted) Husing, noted radio sports announcer, lost his second wife in the courts Tuesday when Celia Ryland (above), his actress-bride of a few months, was granted a divorce by Judge Benjamin F. Curder in a private trial at Reno, Nev. She said Ted was cruel to her.

CITY TO TRY CURB METER

Parking Devices to Be Installed on Four Months Trial

Parking meters will be installed in Santa Ana, with 300 or 400 machines placed on downtown streets, into which motorists will drop a nickel, then be enabled to park their cars for a limited time.

The meters will be put in on a trial basis, and Councilman Ernest Layton is at present on a trip to Texas, Oklahoma, Arizona, and possibly Michigan, to investigate use of the machines.

The decision was reached at a secret session of the city council Monday, where Layton was instructed to make the investigation. The meters will be installed provided the police department and merchants concur in the decision.

Payment for the meters is made out of the amount collected in them, the company accepting a percentage of receipts until $58 each is paid.

JAIL SUSPECTS IN MEDIC RING

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Indicted in connection with an alleged widespread illegal operations ring, seven persons, including two doctors, surrendered at the county jail today. Warrants were out for the arrest of four others.

Those who surrendered were Dr. George E. Watts, Dr. Valentine St. John, John A. Creech, Grace Moore, Jessie Radcliffe, Lillian Wilson and G. O. Shinn.

Wounded Posse Member Dies

ANNISTON, Ala. (AP)—Pat Hicks, one of three men wounded by shotgun fire Monday night as they sought a Negro for an attempted abduction, died today. Before death, he accused Art Bush, Negro held in jail at Birmingham, of firing the charge which struck him.

Do You Like Snakes or Fish?

This question may be hard for you to answer, but Skinny Skirvin has his mind firmly made up. People keep sending him snakes or fish—on postcards, of course—during their vacation trips. Skinny probably would have kicked to Postmaster Frank Harwood about it, but now Harwood has joined the crowd and mailed him a snake postcard from some place out among the Hopi Indians. People have been scalped for less than that. Read about Skinny's troubles on the editorial page today.

SEEK TURNING BASIN FOR HARBOR

To Fight Supervisors' Plan
For Redeeming Bonds
With Refund

When the U. S. Army engineers turn back to Orange county the sum of $121,000 left over from funds allocated for the recently completed dredging program at Newport Harbor, the city of Newport wants that money!

Today there is every indication that the beach city will strenuously oppose plans of the county to spend the refund for retirement of harbor bonds.

Directors of the harbor chamber of commerce last night took first steps in a fight to secure the refund for construction of a turning basin at the entrance to the county harbor when it requested the city council to make formal application to the county for such a use of the sum.

Basin Need Cited
The board of supervisors this week indicated the surplus refund from army engineers would be used for bond retirement, when it was learned the sum would be considerably larger than anticipated.

The Newport chamber last night emphasized need for the turning basin at a spot in the channel entrance where a bend prevents craft of deep draft from entering the harbor.

Large boats which can navigate the 20-foot channel into the harbor proper are prevented, it was pointed out, by the narrowing of the channel opposite Corona Del Mar where the peninsula "bulges" into the bay.

Cost Figured at $100,000
Cost of the proposed dredging probably would be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

The county will receive the huge government refund as soon as a request for the surplus is received by army engineers. The formal request was made Tuesday by the supervisors.

HUGE CROWD TO SEE HANGING

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP)—Authorities estimated today approximately 10,000 persons would witness at dawn here tomorrow the public hanging of Rainey Bethea, 22, convicted negro rapist-slayer, by a woman sheriff.

As hotels began filling with visitors city officials considered closing all liquor stores at 1 a. m. tomorrow.

The hanging—the first to be held in Daviess county since two men were executed 31 years ago, will be conducted in the fenced-in yard of the county garage.

DRIVER BADLY INJURED IN ACCIDENT

One driver lay seriously injured in the Fullerton hospital today and another was in the county jail on suspicion of felony reckless driving, as the result of a traffic accident near Fullerton yesterday afternoon.

William Phelps, 54, Inglewood, was rushed to the hospital after the crash. Hospital attendants refused to reveal the extent of his injuries.

The driver of the car which struck Phelps' auto on Spadra avenue, James V. Beck, 38, Whittier salesman, was booked at the county jail by California Highway patrol officers after the crash, charged with a felony count of drunk driving since the victim was injured.

Cornie John Vogelsang, 20, route 5, Santa Ana, was out and bruised yesterday when his light truck collided with an oil truck driven by Glen P. Fredell, 35, Brea, near Anaheim.

June Winget, 15, Orange, was treated at St. Joseph's hospital last night for a fractured shoulder, incurred when she fell from an automobile in Orange.

FEAR PICKERS MAY STRIKE

Another orange pickers' strike? That's what sheriff's officers and citrus growers were wondering today, following unconfirmed but persistent rumors that a second strike of pickers is scheduled to break loose next Tuesday.

Stuart Strathman, Placentia Chamber of Commerce secretary and growers' representative in the recent strike, told the sheriff's office last night that strike meetings were being held in various Mexican colonies, and that leaders had informally agreed on Aug. 18 for the new strike.

What demands were to be made or who was leading the movement, nobody knows. Sheriff's deputies last night cordoned the county, but found no signs of meetings, although Strathman reported a gathering was scheduled in La Jolla camp.

U. S. DESTROYERS SENT TO SPAIN

WASHINGTON. (AP) — The Destroyers Kane and Hatfield, now on the north Atlantic coast, were designated by the navy today to relieve the Battleship Oklahoma which is now engaged in removing Americans from Spain.

The two vessels, which will be under the command of Commander Stephen B. Robinson, commander of destroyer division seven, will proceed immediately to the New York Navy yard for outfitting and probably will leave for European waters within ten days.

The Kane is now at Lewes, Delaware, and the Hatfield is en route to Provincetown, Mass.

pushed each other, witnesses said. Then Frank Belgrano, past national commander, stepped into the situation, shouting a plea, "Give the commander courtesy." At the uproar quieted, Belgrano formally installed Thomas J. Riordan of San Francisco, commander, and other department officers.

The executive committee, going into secret session, ratified Fisk's reappointment as state adjutant by Riordan. With retirement of the national colors and a final memorial ceremony, the convention was again adjourned.

"At no time in my history with the American Legion, from the lowest ranks to the highest office in the land," declared Belgrano, "have I ever seen parliamentary usage put so that we would stifle discussion and the finishing of the business of the convention."

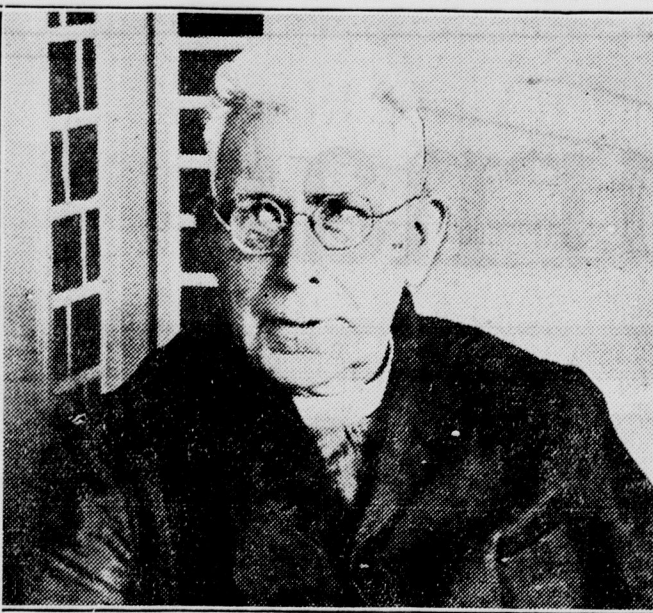

"I come into office in a turbulent session," Riordan told the delegates. "I hope I go out in tranquility."

The Legion meets next year in Stockholm.

Mrs. Ruth Mathebat of Alameda is the new state auxiliary president, and Mrs. Florence Chess, San Mateo, is vice president.

Mrs. Ethel R. Marsh of Upland, retiring president, is a delegate-at-large with Mrs. Mathebat to the national convention in Cleveland.

He Told Coughlin to 'Tone it Down'

Here is Bishop Michael Gallagher of Detroit, superior of Father Charles E. Coughlin, head of the National Union for Social Justice and radio crusader, who told Father Coughlin recently to show a little more respect for President Roosevelt in the choice of his epithets while berating the New Deal. This picture of Bishop Gallagher was taken in Naples while he was enroute to confer with the Pope in Rome.

PEPPER PROFIT TRAFFIC DEATH SUIT ON TRIAL TOLL DEFINED

Whether W. H. Booth & Co. was consistent in asking damages both for loss of profits on chili peppers delivered, and for non-delivery of other peppers in a suit against S. Murata, was the problem placed before Superior Judge James L. Allen today by opposing attorneys.

Booth & Co. asked damages totaling $16,577 on grounds that Murata delivered peppers which had not been washed properly to remove poisonous arsenic dust, and that federal agents confiscated products they manufactured because of an excess of arsenic.

Damages were asked partly for loss of profits and for return of the purchase price, and partly for failure to deliver the entire 60 tons of peppers called for in a contract. Forgy, Reinhaus & Forgy represent Booth & Co., and S. B. Kaufman and Robbie Anderson represent Murata.

Judge Allen's ruling, to be delivered later will determine whether the complaining company must revise its complaint.

We don't kill 36,400 persons a year in auto accidents because we want to. We just can't help ourselves. We are unable to give sufficient attention to what's going on to save ourselves from our own acts.

That, in the words of the psychologist, is the answer to the accident problem, told to Lions club members today by Ivan Kelso, chief counsel for the Automobile club of Southern California.

Kelso said enforcement of the law was not the only way to cut down the death toll. He said better highways, divided into one-way roads, lights on obstructions and on the sides of cars, and education would do a great deal to lessen the danger.

We might improve our manners, too," he said. "If we'd do that, the danger would be cut down surprisingly. The driver who injures or kills somebody has no criminal intent; he just makes a mistake. He can be trained to make fewer mistakes, and highways can be made so he has less opportunity to make them."

Kelso was introduced by Frank West, who was introduced by Elmer Heidt, who was introduced by R. R. Hays, Jr., club president.

Another Strike Trial Under Way

An still the strike trials go on. Eight Mexican orange pickers, charged with rioting July 6 during the citrus strike, faced a preliminary hearing today in La Habra justice court.

More than 100 of their compatriots, facing similar charges, were freed last month when Superior Judge H. G. Ames granted application for a writ of habeas corpus.

CRASH DEATH RESULTS IN TWO SUITS

As aftermath of a fatal accident at Costa Mesa on March 16, two damage actions totaling $50,000 have been instituted in superior court here against Ellery G. Adair of Huntington Beach.

Officers held Adair on negligent homicide charges after the death of Librado Rocha, who was injured in the crash, but charges were dismissed a month ago on the day Adair was to go to trial.

Rocha's widow asked $20,000 for herself for the death of her husband and $20,000 for her four children on the same grounds. A separate action by Jose Martinez, also allegedly injured in the crash, asked $10,000 for injuries which he said impaired his eyesight and caused him great pain.

Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel allowed both plaintiffs to file actions without paying usual court fees when they pleaded they are destitute. M. G. MacNeil, Los Angeles attorney, represents both plaintiffs.

End Nominations In Legion Tonight

Tonight will be Santa Ana Legionnaires' final opportunity to nominate officers for the ensuing year. Nominations will be closed at a meeting of Post 131 in Legion hall at 8 o'clock.

Cy Featherly, head of the local delegation to the state convention in Hollywood this week, will report on convention business.

Featherly and Glenn Cave already have been nominated to succeed Allison Honer as post commander.

The first nomination meeting in July saw George Park entered as candidate for first vice-commander; George Kellogg, second vice-commander; Harold Rasmussen, adjutant; George Richardson and Harold Brown, chaplain; and Andrew Lykke, sergeant-at-arms.

Gagged Vet Under Observation

Suffering from shell shock incurred in the World War, according to officers, Leo Habig, 43, veteran who was found bound and gagged in a ditch near Garden Grove yesterday, today was being observed in a Los Angeles hospital.

After telling a story of kidnapping and suffering, Habig was detained for observation in the county hospital here yesterday, while Los Angeles sheriff's officers were called. They reported he had disappeared near Compton two months ago, leaving behind a blood-spattered car.

Although his story included being caged in a dark cellar for two months, deputy sheriffs reported he was heavily tanned, and that his nose was freshly sunburned.

Gathers Column Items in Jail

Joe Skidmore, 35, former newspaper columnist and Laguna Beach realtor, was gathering column material in the county jail today, not by previous arrangement.

Skidmore was arrested by sheriff's officers yesterday on a peace disturbance warrant issued by Justice C. C. Cravath of Laguna Beach township, and brought to the jail last night.

MORE ABOUT RATS

around a million dollars. In the county it runs into several million. According to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce the national rat bill is something like $500,000,000 per year.

For such a destructive enemy, the rat is a remarkably obscure fellow. He works at night in the dark. He haunts the cellars and attics, the alleys and the store-rooms. He destroys by pollution 10 times as much as he eats. His daily ration, according to experts, is a half cent per day.

Things He'll Ruin

Rattus ruins other things than food. He'll soil and stain a whole bolt of cloth. Fur, lace, leather goods, almost anything he can chew suffers by his teeth. In hardware stores he gets into expensive lawn and garden seed.

Toughest and biggest of the rats are the brown or Norway rats. They'll kill cats; they fight continually among themselves; and they will attack humans if cornered. Sleeping children sometimes are bitten by them.

A female rat is mature and starts breeding at three months. Her litters average from six to 14 young, and arrive from three to five times a year. Frisby has found as many as 24 babies inside a mother. If all the young lived and reproduced, a single pair could in three years raise 10,000,000 offspring, according to one estimator.

City Provides Equipment

Control of the rat menace is in the hands of a WPA crew under the supervision of Frisby. The city, as sponsor, provides the traps, flashlights for the workmen, clerical supplies, and about 25 pounds of bacon per month as bait.

WPA provides the labor of 14 workers, a supervisor and a timekeeper, with a monthly payroll of about $1400.

The city is divided into 14 districts, largely in the business section. Residential areas where rats are discovered also are patrolled, and men are sent at the call of householders who find the pests.

"Nearly every day we have at least one call from a householder who is overrun with rats," reported Frisby.

Just Like Fishermen

Apparently the present control program just keeps pace with the rat population. The daily catches remain about the same, day in and day out. But merchants report they are not suffering the damage they used to, and many a housewife is glad the rat catchers came.

Rat catchers have a rivalry all their own, and compare notes as avidly as fishermen. Frisby once had two men who surpassed all others with their catches. Finally when they brought 326 rats one morning, he checked up.

After working all day, they had been going out nights to the county hog farm to kill some more, just so their total would look big!

Beaten Man Asks Damages of $50

Wilbur Goodrich, Long Beach, freed on an assault and battery count in justice court this morning, would have found himself the defendant in a $50 damage suit if he had waited around long enough after the criminal case.

He was charged by Edward Dunkley, Yucaipa, with having kicked, beaten, and abused Dunkley and tearing his clothing July 25 in an argument over payment of funeral expenses of a relative of Goodrich. Deputy District Attorney J. E. Walker moved to dismiss the case because of lack of evidence.

Dunkley walked into the clerk's office and filed a $50 damage action against Goodrich, to be heard Aug. 28.

T. B. GROUP ASKS TEACHER EXAM

Plans for a campaign whereby all school boards of the county will be urged to adopt a ruling requiring all school employees and all applicants for teaching positions to present a medical certificate, including a chest X-ray, were discussed at this week's meeting of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association.

The action was taken following receipt of a report showing incidence of tuberculosis among teachers is one case out of 46, as compared to one case out of 3000 grammar school children and one out of every 400 high school students.

Plans also were discussed for the annual Christmas seal campaign, for which seals will be mailed Thanksgiving, and radio speaking programs in which Toastmaster groups are expected to take part.

PATROL SITE KEPT UNDER CATO'S HAT

It's under E. Raymond Cato's hat.

And Mr. Cato's hat, which contains his decision as to where the new California Highway patrol office in Santa Ana will be, won't come off for several days.

Cato, chief of the patrol, silently stole into Santa Ana yesterday afternoon, full of joviality and barbequed steak given him at a picnic by the local patrol officers. He had a look around, picked out a site or two where the office may go, and silently stole away.

Today he's in Los Angeles. In several days he is expected to return to Sacramento, where the decision will be put into the red-tape mill and an approval ground out.

Then, probably within two weeks, Santa Ana will hear about it. A site will be rented and equipped, and the county's 18 patrol officers and men will move to their new quarters and stretch out a bit after being confined in two small rooms in the courthouse basement.

The new location will probably be on North Main street. Just where, only E. Raymond Cato knows, and he won't tell.

STORE HEARING WRIT SOUGHT

Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison of Santa Ana today asked dismissal of a writ of prohibition issued yesterday by Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel to block a hearing set for Friday to determine ownership of the McCoy Drug store.

His request came in a demurrer prepared by Attorneys S. B. Kaufman and Robbie Anderson, alleging that Paul V. McCoy, druggist, who brought action for the writ, had not stated sufficient facts to warrant a writ.

Judge Scovel has ordered a hearing Aug. 21 to determine whether the writ will remain in force. The store was seized by Constable Jesse Elliott under attachment proceedings brought by Betten Detectives against K. B. Drug Company. McCoy stated he purchased the store from K. B. Drug Company, and that he feared that if the hearing were conducted an officer again would be placed in charge of the store.

T. B. GROUP ASKS TEACHER EXAM

PLAN AIRPLANE TRAFFIC COPS

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Seeking to make the airways safer, the bureau of air commerce will institute a wider system of aviation "traffic control" Saturday.

Designed to guide planes flying a countrywide network of aerial "air highways," officials said today, the new regulations will fix altitudes at which the craft must fly. They will also set up standards for "blind flying" by operators of private planes.

Already, the bureau has established "traffic control" stations at the Newark, Cleveland and Chicago airports. It is planning others at Detroit, Pittsburgh, Washington, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

DEMOCRATIC STRIFE IS SUBSIDING

Anglim Names Legg to Bring Peace Between Neblett and Cotton

The raucous chants of war that thrilled the Democratic heart and head until recently are stilled today.

Peace—the cry is for peace in the party, and harmony in jealously-ridden state Democratic ranks.

Still another move designed to quell civil war between Hamilton H. (Ham) Cotton and Col. William H. (Batling Bill) Neblett factions today bid fair to accomplish its purpose and bring harmony to the Bourbons.

Anglim Names Legg
Chairman Clifford Anglim of the state Democratic campaign committee yesterday appointed Herbert Legg, chairman of the Los Angeles board of supervisors, as another Los Angeles vice-chairman of the committee.

Legg's job, according to Anglim, will be to bring peace to the warring factions in Los Angeles.

Horace Head, appointed chairman in Orange county, will seek to accomplish the same thing here.

Recently in the Los Angeles Cotton-Neblett feud, which appears to be waning, Anglim appointed A. W. Hoch, public works commissioner, as vice-chairman, and Edward C. Purpus, attorney, as assistant vice-chairman.

Two Headquarters
Purpus opened headquarters in the same building where Cotton's California Assembly of Democrats functioned. Then Hoch opened quarters in a downtown hotel, presumably under the auspices of Colonel Neblett's faction.

Legg says he will bring peace to all factions.

In this county desperate war was waged over the naming of a campaign head. Horace Head, named chairman, although reputedly a Cotton man, says, like Legg, "Harmony above all." And seems to be getting it.

MAN CONFESSES LOVE-KILLING

RIVERSIDE, (AP)—Ray Johnson, 39-year-old restaurant worker, was arrested in Corona and brought to the county jail here today on a charge that he murdered 25-year-old Mido Takaoka, Japanese actress, in Los Angeles Tuesday.

Sheriff's Deputy F. F. Labrum said that Johnson, a small quiet man, confessed the killing, blaming the young woman's death on jealousy growing out of a love triangle.

"I killed her—I was jealous," Johnson was quoted as saying by Labrum. Miss Takaoka was found with her throat slashed.

The third party in the alleged love triangle was William J. Bachand, of New York City, a man whom Miss Takaoka met on a transcontinental bus trip. Bachand is held as a material witness.

Playground Party Held at El Modena

Nearly 100 boys and girls gathered yesterday at the El Modena playground for the end-of-summer party given for them by Miss Rennie Winkler and Matt Lujan, supervisors at the playground.

The children took part in potato races, boxing, a checkers tournament and other games and contests, the winners receiving small prizes.

Miss Martha Steele, Orange, assistant supervisor, and Mrs. Medina, El Modena, served as judges.

OFFER BUILDING SITE
SAN PEDRO, (AP)—The harbor department yesterday offered two free sites to prospective bidders for the navy's $10,000,000 floating drydock to be used at Honolulu.

The bids will be opened in Washington Sept. 30. The drydock must be built on the Pacific coast because its size would not permit passing through the Panama canal.

TOWNSEND TO BE ALLOWED TO SPEAK

CLEVELAND, (AP)—A controversy within the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin's National Union for Social Justice over whether Dr. Frances E. Townsend should address its convention was settled today with an announcement by Coughlin that Townsend would speak to the delegates Saturday.

That will be after the official close of business sessions of the convention, the Royal Oaks, Mich., priest said.

Opposition to appearance of the founder of the old age pension movement had been raised by Walter D. Davis, convention marshal.

"I have not extended an invitation to Dr. Townsend to speak before the convention," said Father Coughlin on his arrival today.

"The business sessions of the convention are expected to be concluded by Saturday noon. From then on we will be calling on many speakers."

"This convention is not going to be an oratorical contest."

KEENE RANCH BATTLE IS FINISHED

The latest attempt of Mrs. Florence Keene, Placencia, to wrest control of her incompetent husband, Arthur G. Keene, from the latter's brother, James, ended in failure yesterday afternoon in superior court here.

Presiding Judge G. K. Scovel denied her petition to have James removed from guardianship and herself placed in charge. He also dismissed an order requiring James Keene to show why he should not be removed.

At stake was a 3000-acre cattle grazing lease in Carbon Canyon which Mrs. Keene asserted her brother-in-law was mismanaging.

Drunk Driving Suspects Nabbed

Two asserted drunk drivers awaited trial in the county jail today, following their arrest last night and this morning by police and sheriff's officers.

Frank Keenan, 31, truck driver of 2050 Evergreen street, was arrested by sheriff's officers and jailed last night near Tustin.

Louis S. Stevens, 50, gardener of 1354 Grand avenue, was arrested at Kilson and Beverly drives this morning by police and booked at the jail.

POLICE REPORTS

Several "suspicious men" reported loitering in the area behind a cafe at Sixth and Main streets had fled before officers arrived last night.

George Logan, 14, reported missing yesterday from 905 Cypress street after he supposedly went to Balboa to look for work, was located by his parents last night at the home of friends in Bakersfield. His mother, Mrs. J. W. Logan, said she would call for him today.

Neighbors' chickens annoyed George Richardson, 941 Grand avenue. Richardson called police, who talked the neighbors into keeping the chickens home, officers reported.

WILSON'S NEW COACH THE GIRLS CAN HIT WRESTLING HOLDS

Wilson High of Long Beach, Santa Ana's new playmate in the Coast Prep league, has signed a new football coach, Alvin Johnson. . . he hails from Kansas, where he had eight years of coaching experience at Wichita. . . eight other Long Beach coaches are products of Kansas or Iowa.

Some of the softball queens who entertained 1,000 and 1,500 fans every Wednesday at the Municipal bowl could swing a mean willow, as evidenced by The Journal's official averages appearing elsewhere on this page. . . the hitting of Ruth Lee of the Green Cats, with nothing short of remarkable .28 safeties in 50 trials for a .560 percentage.

Pat Collins, Marge Brown, Jean Giddings, Kate Dahm and Phyllis Farquhar batted sensationally, too.

Their splendid averages, of course, would have depreciated—and how!—if the pitching had been of the caliber of Lois Terry, the blonde southpaw of the Paramount Studios. Miss Terry, who displayed her skill here last week, is better than some of the National Nightball league's masculine hurlers, in the opinion of Coach Bomo Koral of the Tienan Typists.

The Lionettes, Orange's entry in the girls' division of the Southern California tourney in Los Angeles next month, will appear in a preliminary to the Westminister—Orange men's game at Orange Friday night.

Most wrestlers have their pet holds. Vincent Lopez is known for his elbow smash. . . Man Mountain Dean has a running broad jump. . . Joe Savoldi, a flying dropkick. . . Howard Cantonwine, a hangman's noose. . . and Chief Little Wolf, a death grip.

Some of the lesser lights of the mat might claim some of the following holds, as suggested by a Riverside columnist: 1. the horrible pocketbook gouge; 2. the bloody nose tweak; 3. the awful tummy slug; 4. the running shin kick; 5. the nasty carpet beater bounce; 6. the sensational audience toss; 7. the fearsome eyebrow tug; 8. the ticklish toe bite; 9. the heartless hair grab; 10. the delayed jump up and down; 11. the grinding grip and rip; 12. the rending crash and slash; 13. the brutal wrist slap; 14. the finger-nail tear.

The Llyn Scotsman, jr., Newport Beach's fishing expert, says County Editor Brick Gaines is the Southern California champion tom-cod fisherman of the "California" barge. "The red-head can catch more than any two fishermen put together."

IRVINE CLUB EYES TITLE TONIGHT

County Night Ball League
Irvine club eyes title tonight. The Irvine club, managed by Charlie Grimm, is looking for a victory over the Anaheim club in the County Night Ball League game tonight.

Anaheim and Irvine, generally recognized as the Orange County Night Ball league's most heated rivals, go into another "grudge" game at Irvine tonight. Lloyd Lichtvater or Al Bushman of the Red Lions will oppose Ira DeBuck or Ray Hodgson of Ernie Lagier's leaders.

Chet Congdon's San Juan Capistrano players remain at home to play the hard-to-beat Placentians in the other 8 o'clock game.

Irvine will clinch the second-half title by winning tonight because the Lagiermen are two games in front and play officially closes next Monday with Irvine at Placentia and Brea at Anaheim. There would be no playoff because Irvine won the first half.

Grimm Faces Tough Task With Cubs

Manager Charlie Grimm is having his own kind of trouble with his pitching staff. Unlike the managers of other contending teams, Grimm is not facing a shortage of hurling talent, but an over-abundance. The Cubs have so many capable starting pitchers that Grimm has a job on his hands trying to figure out ways and means of giving them all sufficient work to keep their speed and control sharp.

Just take a glance at the list of star pitchers on the Chicago roster: Larry French, Bill Lee, Lon Warneke, Tex Carleton, Curt Davis and Roy Henshaw. French and Henshaw are left-handers, the remaining quartet right-handed pitchers. They all need work. Lots of it. Just how to manage this is Charlie Grimm's headache.

The Cubs' inability to score runs in anything like large numbers has made the problem of giving the hurlers full nine-inning work outs all the more acute. Two or three runs a game seems to be the Bruins' scoring average. This means that Grimm must put his pitchers as soon as the opposition puts over a run or two instead of allowing the starter to remain on the mound. Lack of work, obviously, has hampered the progress of what appears to be the strongest hurling staff in the National league.

The Cubs lead the league in the matter of getting full performances out of the pitching staff. In the first 90 games of the season, Cub hurlers went the full route in 47 contests. During that period Chicago pitchers allowed 4.1 runs a game.

The addition of Curt Davis to the Chicago hurling corps was expected to give the Cubs the edge needed to make a runaway race of the pennant chase. But it did not. Davis has helped—no doubt about that—but his presence also made the problem of getting sufficient work for the rest of the staff more acute.

C. N. BANKERS FACE JOE'S TONIGHT

Bristow or Youel Will Hurl Against Hanson Or Mott at Bowl

The Santa Ana City league's split-season champions, Commercial National Bank and Joe's Grocery, plunge into a three-out-of-five games series for the 1936 softball title at the Municipal bowl tonight.

The second game will be played Monday night, and the series will continue on Thursdays and Mondays until one club has annexed three. All games, slated for the nine-inning route, will be at 8 o'clock. There will be a 10-cent admission charge.

Edward Bristow, Tustin High school's baffling right-hander, has been nominated by Managers Harold Finley and Don Hillyard to start for the Bankers, although they may decide before game-time to come on with Mearl Youel, the ex-Trojan, whose pitching won the first-half title.

Armand Hanson, Santa Ana Junior collegian who throws from the left side, or Anson (Bob) Mott will pitch for Larry Owens of the Grocers. Manager Owens is undecided whom he will start.

YANK HURLER LEADS WITH 11 WINS

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
One of these days, Bump Hadley is going to lose his horseshoe. Then he won't be the league's leading pitcher any more.

Bump doesn't carry the horseshoe around with him. But that doesn't stop him from being the luckiest thrower on the Yankees' mound staff, if not in the whole American league.

Bump has started nearly as many games as any other regular Yankee elbow, and has lasted the longest complete games.

Still, he leads the league with 11 victories against one lone setback, and all of his wins have been in a row. He hasn't been charged with a defeat since April 20.

Hadley has the uncanny knack of getting himself in hot water in almost every inning he pitches, only to have his fine-fielding mates pull him out by the skin of his teeth.

Not only that, but on four occasions this season, he started games, only to have his opponents blast him into the showers early, and then have his mates come from behind to save his record.

The luck still held yesterday, when he chalked up his eleventh straight by downing the Washington Senators, 11-7. In two different innings, the Senators got him as far as first and second, with but one out, only to have the Yankee infield pull fast double plays and save the day.

Another time, a runner reached second with none out, when a peg from Catcher Joe Glenn cut second base and caught him napping. On one occasion, Hadley walked the first two men on nine pitched balls, and things would have gone bad if a twin-killing didn't pop at the moment.

GIANTS Gain Ground

Another lucky pitcher yesterday was St. Johnson, newcomer to the Cardinals. In his first start for the Gashouse Gang he defeated the Cubs, 5-3, although touched for 14 hits. His luck was packed in the bats of Johnny Mize and Ducky Medwick, who poked out homers to pull the Cards back into the National league lead.

The Giants picked up ground on the leaders by noosing out the Dodgers 2-1 in 12 innings, Gabby Gabler tripling in both runs to defeat Van Mungo.

The Yanks' American league lead was boosted to 11½ games as the Tigers trounced the second-place Indians, 7-4, despite Hal Trosky's thirty-fourth homer. Vernon Kennedy posted his sixteenth pitching victory as he hurled the White Sox to an 8-3 win over the Browns.

The Red Sox and Athletics split a doubleheader, the Sox taking the first one and the A's capturing the nightcap 6-0.

The Phillies' losing streak in the National league was stretched to 10 straight as the Bees shook over two runs in the ninth for a 4-2 win. Bill Swift allowed six hits in pitching the Pirates to a 6-1 conquest of the Reds.

Tiernan Typists Swamp Laguna, 34-1; Journal Compiles Averages

Elated over their astounding 34 to 1 victory over the Laguna Beach Lionettes, Ben (Bomo) Koral's champion Tiernan Typists of the Santa Ana Girls' league today began negotiations for a game with Whittier here Saturday night.

The Typists pounded the ball to all corners of the lot at Laguna in their warmup for The Examiner's Southern California tournament in Los Angeles next month. Koral's cuties gathered 27 hits, with Stevens, Miller, Dahm and Coates leading the barrage of base knocks with four and five apiece. Eleven runs crossed the plate in the second.

U. S. AQUATIC HOPES SOAR AT BERLIN

Kiefer, Backstroke Star Of Chicago, Shatters Meet Record Again

BERLIN. (AP)—The United States continued its upward surge in Olympic aquatic competition today, capturing the first two places in the women's platform diving championship, and successfully meeting all preliminary competition in the women's 400 meter and men's 1500 meter free style swimming events.

Dorothy Poynton Hill, Los Angeles blonde who won the 1932 Olympic platform diving title, retained her crown in a close race with Velma Dunn of Monrovia, Calif., and Kaethe Koehler of Germany.

Mrs. Hill, the favorite, scored 33.93 points in the four-day program against 33.63 for Miss Dunn and 33.43 for Frauline Koehler. By finishing third, the German girl broke America's monopoly on all the current Olympic diving medals.

Dick Degener, Marshall Wayne and Al Greene swept the men's springboard finals and Marjorie Westring, Katherine Rawls and Mrs. Hill finished in that order in the women's springboard event.

Mrs. Lenore Kight Wingard of Homestead, Pa., and Mary Lou Petty of Seattle qualified for the semi-finals of the women's 400-meter free style championship. Mrs. Wingard finished second in the first heat which Ragnhild Hveger, 15-year-old Dane, won in the new Olympic record time of 5:28.

Neither extended himself from an attack of ptomaine poisoning, was third and last in her heat, with the first three in each trial qualifying for the next round.

Jack Medica, Seattle flash who captured the men's 400-meter free style title yesterday, raced to a dead heat with Noburo Terada of Japan in the second heat of preliminary competition in the 1500-meter free style competition. Medica and Terada swam side by side in 19:55.5. Sunao Ishiharada of Japan won the first heat in 19:55.8.

Medica and Terada swam shoulder to shoulder for the entire distance, fully 100 meters ahead of the field. Neither extended himself, however, until the last 50 meters when each went out with a surge. Medica pulled a foot ahead with 25 meters to go but Terada caught him at the finish with a furious spurt. Jorgensen of Denmark was third in 21:42.0.

Kiefer Chief Threat
Adolf Kiefer of Chicago established himself more than ever the man to beat in the men's backstroke event, winning his semi-final heat in 1:06.8, one-tenth of a second faster than the new Olympic mark he made yesterday.

While Al Vande Weghe of Paterson, N. J., and Taylor Drysdale of Detroit also gained the final consolation races to determine finalists in four-oared with and without coxswains, paired with an without coxswain rowing events resulted in elimination of all American participants.

Germany, which captured the men's gymnastic crown yesterday, added the women's title today while the American team was sixth.

BERLIN. (AP)—Dina Senff of Holland captured the women's Olympic 100-meter backstroke swimming championship today after Dorothy Poynton Hill of Los Angeles successfully defended the platform diving title.

Rita Mastenbrook, also of Holland, took second place in a close finish with Alice Bridges of Uxbridge, Mass., third, and Edith Mottridge Segal of Los Angeles, fourth.

Here and There With The Journal's

By I. N. (BRICK) GAINES

AT LAST things are whooping for the Tournament of Lights at Newport-Balboa.

After a slow start, workers are booming the event. Yachts are being dressed up for the big parade, and everyone's rushing around getting homes decorated and hanging lanterns on everything from the lowliest kayak to the largest boat.

From what leaders say, this is really going to be a fine affair. But it's advisable to get there early. You'll be able to see the night water parade, which starts at 7:30 p. m., from the peninsula, Balboa Island, Lido Isle and lots of other places.

And for Pete's sake, don't be asked of the traffic. Two years ago I'll admit it wasn't so hot. Folks went to sleep waiting for cars ahead of 'em to move out of the way. Lotsa drivers spent all the while the night at the beach while police sweated and swore. But last year was a different story. Chief Hodgkinson swore in and at a bunch of deputies and drafted all available Boy Scouts, and their traffic plan worked like a charm. It'll be the same this year, so come on down!

Incidentally, I wonder if we're going to have a press boat, like last year? Another press boat with another good pilot. Last year the boatman kept us interested by running into piers and barely missing barges and dredges. He made a hit with the press, as well as with his boat.

And is Tony Melillo going to have some more Venetian crooners this year? Last time Tony herded his singers into an apparently trustworthy craft and started out to do some expert yodeling while the parade slid by.

But the boat sank.

Speaking of harbor traffic, Harbor-master Tommy Bouchee is angry at neckers.

"Necking is a nuisance to navigation," the usually mild-tempered official said, in attacking habits of sponsors who park along the quiet channel and leave their lights burning. The lights, he explains, make navigation difficult for boat pilots. Annoys and confuses 'em.

But he has a plan to stop all the trouble. And it won't bother the neckers much, either. All he wants to do is erect wooden barricades where the cars park, so the lights won't glare on the water.

And then neckers can neck and pilots can pilot, and maybe Tommy can get a night's sleep!

Well, we finally opened the Orange municipal swimming pool yesterday. And right now I have operatives at work to trace down a report that Mayor Boice didn't take the first plunge.

Remember last year, when the plunge was almost opened, the city council was going to parade in bathing suits? Of course, they've changed councils, and maybe bathing suits, since that time, but it still sounds like a good idea, doesn't it?

Another thing, too—the plunge is going to be open every day, instead of just on Saturday nights.

La Habra lost a landmark last week.

A two-story house, formerly owned by D. A. Davis and located directly west of the Masonic temple on Central avenue, was moved away, to be converted into a residence.

The building was bought a few months ago by John Knudson, who purchased it from Mrs. J. A. Akers. In preparing to move the structure, Knudson tore down a small building on the east edge of the lot—and this building was one of La Habra's earliest.

At one time it was occupied by C. C. Hamilton, who operated a barber shop. Then came restaurants and shoe shops and all manner of commercial enterprises, all of which were born and died at that location. At one time a Mrs. Weeks, early-day school teacher, lived there.

But the building's gone now and, as La Habrans put it, a "ghostly gap" remains in the town's business section.

Wanted—One acrobatic ratcatcher.

Don't get this wrong—the ratcatcher doesn't need to be acrobatic. It's the rats.

Residents on East Maple avenue, in Orange, have complained to police that the athletic rodents skip along telephone wires and play hide-and-seek in palm trees.

They want help in dislodging the bawling brutes.

OIL DRILLING BOOM FORECAST FOR PLACENTIA DISTRICT

WELL CAUSES LEASE RUSH AT Y. L.

Wildcat Planned By West Coast East of Field; Union Is Active

PLACENTIA.—Indications of an old-time oil boom in this district became stronger today, with announcement that an independent oil company will start drilling a wildcat well about six miles directly east of Placentia.

Reports of a strong producer at Yorba Linda, five miles north, and a good Union Oil company well in the heart of the Richfield area substantiate reports that an intensive drilling campaign is starting in the local field, observers said today.

Near Old Field

The latest development project was announced today by West Coast Refining company officials, who said they will start drilling on a lease composed of the Prudhoe, Yorba, Dominguez and Travia properties.

The new location is a short distance from the Kraemer No. 1 field, which has been producing for many years and is also near the site of a recent unsuccessful Standard Oil company project.

Rudolph Wetzel will be in charge of drilling operations.

Reported completion of a 400-barrel well on Rose drive in Yorba Linda has started what observers term a mad leasing campaign.

Consistent rumors are heard that several wells will be drilled in that area immediately.

New Producer

The new producer was drilled by De Augustine, Abrams-Daly Oil company, on their Barnett lease. Unofficial reports give the well anywhere between 400 and 900 barrels, of high gravity clean oil and a quarter-million feet of gas. Eight and five-eighths-inch casing was set at 2738 feet and bottom is at 2811, according to reports.

Intense activity is also reported on the Chapman lease, in the heart of the one-time highly productive Richfield area, where Union Oil company is reported to be drilling four wells. It has after completion of a well in what was termed a new sand, at 6100 feet.

Production High

Production for the new well has been estimated as high as 1000 barrels per day, although no official announcement has been made by the Union.

Oil men are also watching Capt. Frederick Libby's Verde No. 1, which is being drilled within two blocks of Placentia's business district. Bottom is reported at 4200 feet, where the pipe was said to be stuck and the operators preparing to sidetrack slightly above that depth.

Another development in the local field is a deep test well on the Anaheim Union Water company property northwest of Placentia on the East Coyote field, where the hole is said to be at 5125 feet.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Interest of oil men turned to the Five Points district, northeast of Huntington Beach old field today. The Twentieth Century Oil Company was preparing to launch a second well in the area and the Five Points Oil Corporation, which holds a large lease in the section, continued to drill ahead as it neared the 5300 foot mark where it is hoped a producing sand will be encountered.

The Five Points company passed up the production sand at 4400 feet a few days ago when the operators decided to try the deeper zone.

Success of the first Twentieth Century wildcat in the district several weeks ago has created a miniature boom in the district. With the new well planned by the Twentieth Century there will be four in the area. The first successful well came in at around 200 barrels and has simmered down to a steady production of 75 barrels daily from the 4400 foot sand, it is reported.

More than 600 acres are under lease in the area at present. The new project will be located on the Schaff lease south and east of the first well.

Meanwhile the West American Oil company, at the corner of Smeltzer road and Huntington Beach boulevard, six miles north of Huntington Beach, was still drilling today. Bottom of the hole is nearing the 9,000 foot level, it is reported. The well will be one of the deepest in Orange County if a production sand is encountered.

PIER BOTHERS LAGUNANS Tides Threaten Old Wharf

LAGUNA BEACH.—Speculation was rife today in official circles of the city administration as to whether or not the latest bidders for wrecking the old fishing pier at the foot of Aster street, taking salvage in steel and lumber for compensation, are still interested in the undertaking, or have decided to leave it alone.

Part of the upper structure of the pier was washed away a few days ago by the effects of heavy ground swells and giant breakers, it was reported. Some concern was expressed today by members of the council over a possible loss of salvage resulting from further effects of ground swells and breakers unless salvage operations are begun at once.

Inquiries at the office of City Engineer A. J. Stead disclosed that an agreement has been prepared for the signatures of J. K. Matheison and E. C. Lithicum of San Diego, who last week appeared before the city council and offered to remove the old pier for the salvage involved. They have not as yet signed the agreement, it was learned. A former bidder, Bert Foerschler, of this city, withdrew his offer, it was stated.

MOVEMENT FOR ORANGE COUNTY TO JOIN MWD GAINS HEADWAY

QUESTION OF SURPLUS IS STUDIED

Pitfalls Are Explained By Browning to Orange County Board

A movement for Orange county to join the Metropolitan Water District in order to replenish diminishing underground reserves of water gained headway yesterday afternoon as the Orange County Water District board of directors delved into the question.

Board members agreed that it is unlikely that non-members of the Metropolitan district will be able to buy surplus water. Members will be given first choice, it was felt. Attorney A. W. Rutan pointed out that on the basis of its assessments if it joined the district, Orange county would not get enough water for its needs, but that as a member it would have priority rights to purchase surplus water.

Los Angeles Situation
Los Angeles, largest member of the district, is developing in the Owens valley enough extra water to care for the city's needs for many years, according to C. Roy Browning. During that time, suggested William T. Wallop, Orange county could be building up its underground reserves by using the Colorado river water instead of pumping.

Orange County Water District probably could not join the Metropolitan district in its present form, board members said. Voting in the local district is by property owners on the basis of assessed valuation. A popular vote is required to choose to join Metropolitan.

Board members said they are looking forward to a Metropolitan board of directors meeting in Los Angeles tomorrow, at which policies on sale of surplus water, and added memberships are to be settled.

Further Study Slatd
Further local study of the problem is slated for next Tuesday at a joint meeting of the Orange County Coast Association and Associated Chambers of Commerce at Laguna. Speakers for the Metropolitan Water District will discuss probable costs of water, purchase of surplus, and obligations of members.

Browning, member of the local board, said yesterday that estimates on cost of Metropolitan water had ranged from $14 to $38 per acre foot. He said the average orange orchard can afford to use water at $18 per acre foot. Browning warned that bond obligations of members should be made clear before the water district here takes any action to join Metropolitan.

Roosevelt Promises and Landon's Supreme Court Aired by Major Parties

The Journal conducts this forum so that its readers may receive full and authoritative information upon the issues of the presidential campaign. Horace C. Head, chairman of the county Democratic campaign committee, and B. Z. McKinney are in charge of that party's contributions. Howard Irwin, head of the Republican county central committee, and Dr. W. E. Dixon are contributing their party's articles.—Editor's note.

By THE REPUBLICANS
Campaign promises are made by candidates to let the people know what they may expect from a public servant after obtaining office.

We have two candidates now running for the office of the presidency of the United States, who also ran for office in 1932. The one, as candidate for the presidency, the other, as candidate for governorship of a prairie state. Their records are made. The books are open for inspection.

How did they keep their campaign promises? The answer to this question is very pertinent in this campaign. For by their promises and deeds the people not only have a right, but should judge them.

Promise on Deficit
What promises did Mr. Roosevelt make in 1932 when he was campaigning for election? He promised a 25 per cent reduction in the expenditures of the government. He denounced Mr. Hoover in very forcible terms for having an unbalanced budget and a deficit of $3,286,012,362, and promised to wipe out this deficit, reduce the public debt and put business on a paying basis.

How did Mr. Roosevelt keep this promise to the people? Up to May 18, 1936, the New Deal administration had spent $22,541,245,376. This colossal sum does not include federal loans of government money. It represents only cash expenditures from the treasury. During this three years, two months and 14 days, the total receipts from all sources were $11,234,364,218. That is, Mr. Roosevelt, who promised to wipe out the deficit, reduce the public debt and put business on a paying basis, has spent $2.12 for every dollar he took in.

Still Unbalanced
The question may be asked, what difference does this enormous deficit make to a government having the resources and wealth of the United States. History gives us no record of any government having an unbalanced budget for more than seven years, without one of two things happening, namely, inflation or repudiation. Either will bring havoc to the laboring man, farmer, business or professional man. We are now on our seventh year with our budget unbalanced.

Mr. Roosevelt also promised to reduce the various commissions of the government. How did he keep this promise? He actually increased these commissions by 43.

Tomorrow—Landon's record.

Sharps and Flats From The Political Bandwagon

REPUBLICAN STRAW MAN
WASHINGTON.—While Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential candidate, worked at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., on coming speeches in his strenuous campaign tour, Secretary Wallace disputed statements he attributed to Knox.

Wallace said at Chicago that Knox and Chairman Hamilton had charged the New Deal with creating a wheat shortage. Accusing them of "setting up a straw man which they have a great deal of fun knocking down." Wallace said the estimated 1936 wheat harvest is about equal to normal consumption, while the July 1 carryover was 150,000,000 bushels.

"The American people," he said at a political rally, "want just what Governor Landon wants. They want to get rid of this talk of class strife."

ALF LANDON GETS A REST
DENVER.—Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, as a private citizen, returned to Colorado today to rest and work on his speeches for the presidential campaign.

He spent 15 minutes in Denver, and then left for Estes Park, via Boulder, by automobile. Charles R. Enos, Republican state chairman, and a few other Republicans greeted him at the station.

UNDERPASS IS OPPOSED AT LAGUNA

Planning Board Cites Sanitary Problem in Pedestrian Tunnel

Decided opposition to proposed construction of an underpass for pedestrians in the downtown section of Laguna Beach was voiced by the city planning commission at a meeting of the city council there last night.

J. Edward Eberle, president of the commission, opposed the underpass project on the ground it would not only be expensive in construction and maintenance, but also prove highly insanitary, considering it would have to be built below the sea level. Because of the formation of the soil near the beach, he predicted there would be considerable seepage, thus accentuating the sanitation problem. Moreover, he thought that but few persons would make use of the proposed pedestrian tunnel.

In place of an underpass for pedestrians in crossing the beach boulevard, Eberle recommended installation of a traffic signal system. A committee of Councilmen Charles H. Jester, Randolph Bainbridge and Tom Cummings was appointed to investigate the cost of installing such a system.

ROYAL BIRTH EXPECTED
NAPLES, (AP)—Crown Princess Marie Jose is expecting the birth of her second child early next year, sources close to the royal family said today. The tall, gray-eyed Belgian princess is staying in a royal castle near Turin. Her husband, Crown Prince Humbert, joined her there today upon his return from the Olympic games in Berlin.

"Something to Remember"
When you hear the spellbinders over the radio and on the stump refer to the Democratic disregard of the supreme court, remember that congress during the three and one-half years of the Roosevelt administration has passed many more legislative acts than has the legislature of Kansas.

If Governor Landon has been turned down on unconstitutional measures five times by his own state supreme court, has he a right to criticize Roosevelt, or would the pot call the kettle black?

He did, however, destroy one. He saw no reason to have an efficiency commission, so did away with it.

Tomorrow—Landon's record.

Parra Is House-to-House Campaigner; Kuchel Name One of Oldest in County

Anaheim's Anthony Parra works his campaign for supervisor on a Fuller Brush basis, while Thomas Kuchel, also of Anaheim, is coasting along on a "trained men in public jobs" slogan while campaigning for assembly.

Anthony Parra took a tip from the house-to-house salesman in planning his campaign for county supervisor from the third district. He is conducting a house-to-house campaign.

"My aim," he says, "in carrying my campaign from house to house is to acquaint the voters with me personally, and to give them a first-hand contact with my character and political ideas."

"As a voter I appreciated any direct contact with candidates, and I feel that other voters would have much the same idea."

He also says he is "not unmindful" of the benefits of newspaper advertising, and in addition plans to carry his campaign to merchants and business men in his district.

Kuchel is one of the oldest family names in Anaheim, and Thomas Kuchel, of the third generation of that family, is finding it quite an asset in his campaign for election to the state assembly.

"Trained for public service" is his slogan, and he's very busy renewing acquaintances with the old-timers who knew his grandfather, Conrad Kuchel, and his father, Henry Kuchel, late publisher of the Anaheim Gazette.

Kuchel also is a frequent speaker at public gatherings. He is one of the younger practicing attorneys in the county.

Barnum's Face Goes on Coins

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The profile of P. T. Barnum, the showman, is to appear on a new silver half-dollar—not because of his connection with the circus, but because of his philanthropies.

The treasury disclosed today that Secretary Morgenthau and the fine arts commission had approved the striking of 25,000 Barnum coins commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of the incorporation of Bridgeport, Conn.

BALLOTS ARE MAILED OUT TO 62,833

Backs Asks Voters to Keep Poll Location Cards at Hand

Sample ballots for 62,833 registered voters in Orange county were mailed here yesterday by County Clerk J. M. Backs. With postage at 1 cent per ballot, cost was $628.33.

Mailing of the sample ballots followed weeks of work by Backs and his deputies. Since July 16, when registrations closed for the Aug. 25 primary, each registration has been checked, envelopes addressed, and ballots stuffed into the envelopes.

Each envelope also carries a card to inform the voter where his polling place will be a week from next Tuesday. Backs urged voters to save the cards in order to avoid confusion on election day.

By the end of this week Backs will have a crew in the field delivering voting booths and ballot boxes to the county's 245 precinct polling places. Next week he will sort out the official ballots for precincts.

Don Abel Stearns Was Southland's Largest Cattle Owner in 1860

(Men are remembered after their death for their unselfish service to their fellow men. Robert Gardner of Orange has written a series of articles about pioneers of this section, which The Journal is publishing in order to preserve the memory and deeds of outstanding characters. Today's sketch tells about Don Abel Stearns.—Editor.)

Don Abel Stearns was a Yankee caballero. He was a real Bostonian. Before he came to California he spent three years in Mexico and had become a naturalized Mexican citizen.

His success came when he started to deal in hides and cattle. In 1860 he was by far the largest cattle owner in the Southland.

He married Senorita Arcadia Bandini, who was a member of a leading Los Angeles family. She was most "frank and amiable and winning."

Don Abel was not handsome. His face was extra long and his nose was extra large. He won the name among his associates as "Cara de Caballo" (Horseface).

After his marriage, he and his wife were known as Beauty and the Beast. So long as he supplied the wealth for buying the setting for her beauty, Senorita Bandini remained faithful. She always had an elaborate background.

His palacio was known far and wide and the parties given by him were events to be remembered.

Don Abel Stearns practiced and adopted the religion of his adopted country. When Alvarado deported Americans in 1840, Don Abel was one of the few that were not deported.

But at heart he remained an American. It was in 1846 that he became confidential agent to the American Consul Larkin in the "Peaceful Conquest of California by the United States."

He became a member of the constitutional convention after California became a part of the United States.

He served the public as a member of the city council in Los Angeles and it was he who signed the first teacher's contract ever entered in the city of Los Angeles.

"Don Abel was a force of good in the province when he died at the age of 72. Despite his fiery temper which had involved him in controversy, he had won the high standing through his honor and devotion in public affairs, his loyalty in friendship and his kindness in private life."

It was Don Abel Stearns who did business with most of the rancheros in this section of the country. Besides doing business with local men he had thousands of green hills of this locality. He was the greatest cattlemen of his day, when cattle constituted the main industry.

18 SIGN FOR MARKETING AVOCADOS

More Than 6000 Trees In County Entered; Deadline Saturday

Orange county's last-minute sign-up of unaffiliated avocado growers to gain admittance into their industry's cooperative marketing program for next season is surpassing all expectations, local leaders of the Calavo Growers of California reported today.

Eighteen county growers, with more than 6000 trees, signed up last week, and by the time the deadline for signing arrives, at midnight Saturday, many thousands more trees are expected to be included for the cooperative's marketing program of 1937. All marketing applications must be in or postmarked by midnight Saturday to qualify.

As soon as the number of growers and their 1937 season production can be tabulated after the sign-up closes, a definite marketing program and budget will be compiled for next season.

Among Orange county growers who signed up during the past week were S. J. Coughran, groves at Buena Park, Fullerton and Capistrano, 2000 trees; E. M. Ohmer, Garden Grove, 1100 trees; Edwin L. Brunley, La Habra, 700 trees; H. B. Griswold, La Habra, 500 trees; Henry Pitcher, Orange, 500 trees; W. J. Cadman, Fullerton, 500 trees; and J. F. and Nelson Bruederer, La Habra Heights, 500 trees.

Among other outstanding growers outside of Orange county just joining are A. J. Davis, Corona, 1200 trees; Crosby Corporation, North Whittier Heights, 1700 trees, and Dr. A. C. Geith, Vista, 1000 trees.

Fred Stone has a private film library of incidents in his own life—approximately 50,000 feet of pictures.

ANDREWS END LONG TRIP IN EAST AND SOUTH

Canada, the East Coast and the far South were all included in the itinerary of Mr. and Mrs. Don Andrews and daughter, Helen, of 941 West Camille street, who returned a short time ago from a delightful six-week trip.

Going first to Detroit, the travelers purchased a new car, then went through the Fleetway Tube under the Detroit river to Windsor and on to Toronto, Canada.

After Niagara Falls, they left the beaten track, visited Fort Ticonderoga on Lake Champlain, then drove through the New England states with stops at the Coolidge home in Plymouth, at historical Lexington and Concord, and finally down the Hudson river to West Point and New York City for a few days' stay.

Several days were also spent among the points of interest in Philadelphia before the three continued south to Richmond and over the new highway just opened through the Shenandoah National park, following the crest of the Blue Ridge mountains.

The wild flowers were at their best on the Shenandoah route, they report, and the views from the road were indescribable.

After visiting relatives in Pittsburgh and East Liverpool, Ohio, the family drove home over the Lincoln highway.

The appointments were made during morning business session at the San Juan Capistrano high school. The hostess group, San Juan Capistrano club, served a Spanish luncheon at noon, with a Spanish musical program.

Changes in the board meetings for October and April were decided upon, to make them coincide with county federation conventions to be held in those months.

Following the luncheon, Homer Changy, director of the Orange county federal forum, discussed plans for the project. Betty and Buddy Forster sang several selections, with Mrs. E. L. Wyle as accompanist.

Letters of greeting from department inspector, patriotic instructor, press correspondent, and senior aid to their corresponding local officers were read at last night's meeting of the Sedgwick Women's Relief corps which was attended by 14 officers, 14 members and one visitor. Mrs. Geraldine Beall presided.

DAUGHTERS VISIT AT HOME OF MRS. JAMES

Mrs. Anna James of 204 1/2 South Stowe reported four daughters aided, 55 calls on the sick and eight bouquets sent out.

Her daughter, Mrs. John R. Johnson of Fresno, and the latter's daughter, Beverly, who have been with her for some time, are spending these two weeks at Balboa, where Mr. Johnson will join them the end of the month for several days' visit with his family.

MRS. REINHAUS CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. Max Reinhaus entertained her bridge club Tuesday night at her home at 809 West Fourth street. Three tables of contract were in play during the evening.

Candles dripping down their bottle holders onto red and white checkered table cloths created a typical Bohemian cafe setting last evening for the delightful summer night party at which members of Sigma Tau Psi sorority entertained their husbands and other guests.

Gardens of the E. R. Majors home at 1811 North Flower street were the location of the "Bohemia," the guests gathering around tables out in the backyard for a delicious spaghetti and French bread dinner.

"Cafe" in Garage
Later, they adjourned to the garage "cafe," where they spent the evening alternating between the daily decked refreshment tables and the dance floor just outside.

A swinging lantern and the crude candles formed the only illumination inside the room, which was hung with pictures and signs appropriate to the early day tavern, bright green and yellow linoleum, one side of the room, and an antique mirror between rows of pictures decking the other.

Dance Outdoors
Tables were set attractively about the edge of the room, and lights in the garden and drive provided brilliance for the outdoor dance floor.

Gathering for the unique affair were the Messrs. and Mesdames Don Harrison, W. W. Barnett, Edward Sugden, Thomas Jentges, Herbert Hill, Roy Griest, and Lee Hasenjaeger; the Misses Alyce and Mary Emil Majors, Virginia Graves, Eloise Wright, Mary Jane Sturgeon, Jean Rowland, Betty Rowland, Harriett Chaplin, Marjorie Berkner, Fern Berkner, Genevieve Glover, Georgia Turner, Lucy Holmes and Jean Barry and Messrs. Pete Smith, Bob Everts, Jimmy Adams, Max Willson, Lloyd Scott, Bob Chapman, Gene Anderson, Bob Hitt, Bob Norwinski, Paul Pope, Harold Lewis and Bill Quinn.

Guests came dressed in slacks and sport clothes, Virginia Graves setting a happy theme with her bright red and blue nautical outfit. Mrs. Barnett and Jean Rowland both wearing gray slacks suits and Mrs. Jentges a rust-colored wool crepe pajama costume.

Balboa browns were chosen by Mrs. Herbert Hill, Balboa whites by Miss Alyce Majors, and Balboa blues by Betty Rowland.

Mary Jane Sturgeon capped a smart slacks costume with a bandana turban and Eloise Wright chose a less sporty costume when she came in a smart hand-knit suit of white. Others were in costumes equally appropriate to the vacation idea of the party.

The lovely patio of the C. E. Utt home on Lemon Heights was the setting yesterday for a 16-table benefit card party staged by the Pythian Sisters at Tustin temple, the affair starting with a dessert course at 1:30 o'clock.

Hostesses were Miss Marjorie Rawlings, daughter of Mrs. Utt, Miss Minnie Penman, Mrs. Emma Shearn, Mrs. Grace Leinberger, Mrs. Violet Irvine, Mrs. Jennie Stone, and Mrs. Mary Rannels.

The card game was at the close of the card games to Mrs. Charles Arts, high in contract, Mrs. A. Peet and Mrs. Laura Sanborn, first and second in auction, and Mrs. Stone, high in 500. The awards were potted plants.

Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Emma Christiansen and Mrs. Bertha Trickey Utt.

Mary Stoddard Husband Perplexed to Point of Jealousy by Wife's 'Case' on Clark Gable

By MARY STODDARD

Occasionally I receive a letter from a young wife, sometimes an older one, too, who wish to know why their husbands are intrigued with movie stars like Norma Shearer, Myrna Loy or Mae West. But for the first time, I have received a note from a very much over-wrought husband who is literally biting needles and pins because his wife is always talking about Clark Gable.

SWEDISH EXHIBIT SHOWN AT BOOK REVIEW SESSION

Linen, gold and bronze work and wood carvings from Sweden were exhibited last night, in addition to numerous pictures of the northern country, in connection with the weekly public book review lecture at the Unitarian church.

"Sweden, the Middle Way" was the volume selected by the Rev. Julia N. Budlong for review. Mrs. James Anderson furnished the display of Swedish home art.

Discussing the methods used by Sweden to solve economic and social problems causing turmoil in other parts of the world, Miss Budlong said:

"The little country to the north has been at peace for hundreds of years, so that it has been able to adapt machines to the good of the people, without wars to disrupt its financial and social order."

"Every conceivable form of co-operation is in operation, and government competes with business, goes into partnership with it, and has a monopoly on certain businesses. The present monopoly of liquor and tobacco may be extended to other commodities."

"Timber has been nationalized since the 1600s. Sweden has the oldest democratic form of government in Europe."

Homer Chaney, director of the Orange county federal forum, is to be guest reviewer next Wednesday evening. His book will be "100 per cent Money."

Luncheon In Shade Of Old Tree

Under, instead of 'round 'n 'round, the mulberry bush went members of the Pioneer club of Sedgwick Women's Relief Corps No. 17 for their yearly meeting this past week at the home of Mrs. Martha Ritchie on McFadden street, Tustin, where Mrs. Ritchie and her daughter, Mattie, presided as co-hostesses.

This bush was a large tree planted 70 years ago by the hostess' father and now spreads shade over a generous area of its garden surroundings.

Annual Gathering
Here the group gathered for a covered dish luncheon and the get-together which is an anticipated event of each year.

Mrs. Emma Palmer Mosbaugh, corps president, presided over a business meeting, following which members told of their summer travels. Mrs. Margetta Philcox topped off the afternoon with an account of 15 foreign countries she had visited, together with every state in the United States except Maine.

Assisting Mrs. Ritchie and her daughter in serving were Mrs. May Spessard and her daughter, Louise.

Guests present were the Mesdames Ada Belle Paul, Daisy May Ross, Elizabeth Bravener Birkhead, Miss Geraldine Doris Cole, and Miss Martha Jane Ritchie, and members in attendance were the Mesdames Mosbaugh, Ritchie, Eugenia Marie Harvey, Annie Louise Arnold, Hannah Almira Huntington, Phillis, Charlotte Emaline Rittenhouse, Elizabeth Dorothy McLeod, Jessie Maud Wallace, Rosina Carolina Diers, Mae Clinton West, and Helen Kellogg Aubin.

Original Poem Read
The next meeting will be with Mrs. Arnold, 405 South Birch street, September 3.

A surprise highlight of the day was presentation of a birthday cake to Mrs. Huntington, baked by her daughter, Mrs. Lester Slayback, and the reading of a beautiful original poem, "The Old Mulberry Tree," by Mrs. Aubin, a fitting climax to a delightful day.

The poem, which was enthusiastically received, and ended with the following verses, and included six other lovely stanzas in its entirety:
"Could you but seek, Grand Old Mulberry Tree,
The many tales you'd tell would thrill me,
Of happy days beneath your cooling shade,
While history in Heaven was being truly made.

"And may you tenderly watch over our Martha dear,
And protect and comfort her during the coming year,
That we may all once more united be,
Beneath your cooling shade, Dear Old Mulberry Tree."

Mrs. Aubin, author of the poem, is secretary and treasurer of the Pioneer club.

COUSINS WED IN CEREMONIES AT CHAPEL

Miss Erma E. Waidler of Anaheim and her cousin, Miss Bertalyn Byers of Bellflower, almost had a double wedding, choosing the same evening but not the same hour for their marriage ceremonies performed last night at Santa Ana Wedding chapel.

Forty friends and relatives attended the wedding of Miss Waidler and Albert M. Peterman, also of Anaheim, which was performed by the Rev. Earl C. Bloss at 8 o'clock.

The bride wore a lovely fitted dress of white organdy, with a

Do Your Bad Manners Fuss Your Escort?

Oh, Dorothy! Only one hand on the coffee cup, please. Can't you see how fussed Paul is—because people are watching your show of bad manners?

He'll invite Polly next time, you may be sure. She's no cup-cuddler or elbow-bracer. Nor does she wad her napkin. She lays it across her lap—folded double or triple—definitely touching only a corner to her lips. Leaving the table to dance, she drops the napkin on her chair. At the close of the meal, she tucks it—partly folded—under the edge of the plate as she rises.

Violin music preceded the ceremony, after which the wedding party and the friends gathered for a reception before the newlyweds departed on their honeymoon. They will make their home in Anaheim.

The latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Peterman of Anaheim, were present at the wedding. Several of the guests returned

THORN in the FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE

A friend of mine says he has a letter postmarked New York City, dated June 13, 1936. In the right hand corner beside the postage stamp appears the official authorized government mark of cancellation—which mark bears the words "Visit Soviet Russia this year."

Well, it might be a good thing for some folks!

But if it's whiskers, poverty, red flags or surfdom one wants to see, a detective might be able to find some in our own country, who knows?

But how about a government advertisement to read:

"Visit Russia!"

"Government paid all expense tour!"

"The U. S. gov't. is offering free a one-way ticket, all expenses paid to all who believe in the Russian regime, and would substitute it for our form of democracy . . ."

etc.

Trouble is, we might lose some of our brain trusters, and then what would we do?

What has happened to our "See America First" slogan?

Meaning, "America First."

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Inspector Hylton has just about pinned the murder of old Arthur Burdett on Burdett's youngish half nephew—when suddenly his suspicions are confirmed by Dale Shipley's flight to London. Hylton is dashing away from Dale's house to issue a pick-up order, when Nancy Featherstone, older than Dale but in love with him nevertheless, tells Hylton that his quarry is at her house, drunk. Hylton returns with her, and is locked in a strong room. Mean while Sergeant White, earnest but not particularly clever, is supposedly at work on the same case. And, of course, Dale is not at Santa Ana's house.

At 1 o'clock Sergeant White came back to his cottage and went thoughtfully through into the kitchen where his wife was busy taking something out of the oven.

"How's Mr. Hylton this morning?" Alice asked lightly.

"He wasn't there."

"Not there? Where was he?"

"As a matter of fact I don't quite know. He told me to meet him at 12 and said particularly I was not to be late. They told me at the Hoops that he went into Morechester this morning, early, and then came back about half past 10 and they haven't seen him since."

"Pity you can't find out who did that old fool in," she said irritably. "We might get a lift then and be able to afford a decent oven."

"No one can expect me to be over at Nyetlon and at Erderton court at the same time."

"How do you know that?"

White asked quickly, and Alice could have bitten the end of her stupid tongue off. She ought to have learned by now, she reflected, to be doubly careful with a man as madly jealous as her husband.

"I just heard somebody talking about it somewhere in the village—here have this damned, oh I'm sorry Jimmy, this blessed shepherd's pie before it gets cold."

She cut him a piece of bread and put the bottle of Yorkshire Relish in his reach and filled his glass with water. All these ministrations he received with that masculine matter of course indifference which not infrequently a woman finds the most maddening thing in the world. One or two sharp comments came to her tongue but she repressed them. Jimmy had a regular job with good money and a pension, she wasn't going to be fool enough to fall out with him unnecessarily, especially when she could pull the wool over his eyes so beautifully as long as she was careful.

"Pie's burnt a bit," he said. "What are you doing this afternoon?"

"Going to Morechester."

"The pictures, I suppose?"

"Well, what's wrong with the pictures?"

"You're always off there, nowadays," he said.

"A woman wants to get out of her house sometime, I suppose."

"What's on—anything special?"

For a moment Alice could hardly believe her ears. It would be just like the almost inspired perverseness of the male, she thought, if he said he would come with her.

He noticed her slight pause and asked again, this time looking full at her.

"I'm just trying to think," she said testily. "I'm not sure what it is, but I don't think it's anything special."

After a moment or so she could not help adding "Were you thinking of coming, Jimmy?"

"Good Lord, no. I've got something to do. I shall be out with the inspector, I suppose."

Alice was well pleased to let the conversation run to other lines.

"Funny you can't get any idea who's done it," she said.

"Who says we can't get any idea? I keep telling the inspector it's most likely one of these rough-looking chaps I saw in the village a day or two before."

"I wonder who they were. Nobody else saw them, did they?"

"Of course somebody else saw them, but nobody takes any notice of a tramp."

"Seems to me a waste of time looking in the village here."

"Praps they'll find that out as they go along," White said with a peculiar smile.

"Do you think the Inspector suspects young Shipley?"

"Why should he?" her husband looked up sharply.

"Well, everybody knows he didn't like the old man and I suppose it might as well be him as anybody else."

White looked away again and shook his head.

"I don't think it was Dale Shipley," he said, "so don't you get jumping to the conclusion it was."

Alice gave her rich, carefree laugh. "I don't care who it was," she cried, "as long as it wasn't you."

"Don't talk foolishly," James White begged in a grumbling voice.

At half past two exactly Harry Small sat on the bole of a fallen oak facing the central clearing in the Big Wood, laid his gun carefully on the dry ground at his side, and pulling an old pouch out of one capacious side pocket, began to fill the pipe that he had been sucking.

He glanced at his watch; Alice was 10 minutes late, but Small didn't worry. She'd come; having trouble with that husband of hers most likely. The gamekeeper smiled as his thoughts ran on James White—a rum chap for such a powerful man, didn't seem to smoke much or drink, and all against swearing—but a man, though, you had to allow him that.

Did his duty and afraid of no one—cut up nasty most likely if ever he found out. Harry Small's smile broadened; after all, what was life worth without a bit of a risk to give sauce to it; and Alice was worth it any day, more than worth it. He stretched his big body in pleasurable anticipation; and so quickly that even his phenomenally quick ears gave him only a moment's warning she came up to him from behind.

"Harry."

"You've come, my dear."

"I am puffed, it's an awful pull up that bank."

"You're late."

"Late? You ought to be damned glad I've come at all!"

Small's eye ran over her flushed, handsome face and her generous body.

"So I am," he allowed.

"I told him I was going to the pictures, and just for the moment I thought he was going to offer to come with me."

"Sergeant White go to the pictures?"

"He does sometimes."

"Not often, I'll bet."

She sat down on the log by him, still breathing quickly. He made no effort to cross her, there was plenty of time yet.

"Nice day," he said.

"Jimmy's off on this business at the Court. Who do you reckon did it, Harry?"

"That chap as lives with him, most likely."

"Lumsdale?"

"Yes. Unless it's one of the gentry whose woman he played about with."

Alice White looked up quickly. "What do you mean?" she asked.

"What do you know about it?"

"I can't say as I know anything exactly, but I've heard a tale or two. 'E was a bit of an old cough-dropper, wasn't he, for all this living alone and miser business?"

The woman was staring down the ride. "Did you see Jimmy on Monday night, she asked suddenly.

"See him? No, of course I didn't. What's more important to me is did he see that Ruckley gang that was out."

"But if he had been out he would have seen them, wouldn't he?"

"Neyton Wood's a big place, my dear," Small said, "big enough for you and me to get lost in anyway; let's try."

He rose to his feet, stretched himself prodigiously and bending with a sudden quick movement picked the woman up in his arms and pressed her to him.

When her lips were free she gave a little gasp. "Oh, Harry, you are strong."

"Strong enough to pick you up anyway; and to put you down where I've a mind to."

"I like your cheek."

"Can't we stay here?" she protested. "It's lovely in this bit of sun."

"It'll be lovelier still where I've a mind to go," he said, "there's a bit of a bank the other side of the ride where the turf's so soft you might be sitting on a bed."

"All right, Harry," Alice said quietly.

They had emerged from the side of the wood and overlooked an unexpected and charming little valley. It's slope lay to the southwest and formed a perfect trap for the afternoon sun, so that January and all the bleak things of the year seemed further off than ever.

With a sudden but unhurried movement he lifted her off her feet.

Sergeant White also takes to the woods, tomorrow.

People Really Need Parks

THROUGH sponsoring a $78,924 WPA project for improvement of Irvine park, county supervisors reveal that they understand and sympathize with the natural public hunger for places of beauty in which to rest or play.

This hunger for a haven of greenery is elemental and has existed in man since the earliest days. There are records in the Bible and in classic literature of parks and reservations where the masses and their masters loll and strolled.

Most modern communities recognize this inborn human desire by establishing beautiful, well-kept parks or by restricting areas of natural charm in the hills or along the beaches.

Irvine park is an outstanding illustration of what can be done. Anaheim park is another.

Here in Santa Ana, city officials have made a good start in the right direction with the present development of a short strip along the banks of Santiago creek. This is fine for the north end of town. But it won't do much good for the south end. There should be a city park in the south section of Santa Ana, too.

The Orange county Young Democratic club has three members over 80 years old and is looking for a centenarian. Why not stage a rally at the Old Men's Home?

Your Debt for the Future

IF YOU get high blood pressure when someone mentions the New Deal expenditures, you'll probably burst an artery when you read this paragraph about California expenditures from Lyman M. King's column in the Redlands Facts:

The deficit in the general fund of the state government is rising at the rate of about a million dollars a month. In other words, our state government is spending about a million more than her revenues, every 30 days. July 1 was the first day of the new fiscal year. State Controller Riley tells us the deficit in the general fund as of that date was a little over 43 millions. This is a rise of about 13 millions for the year. The deficit is carried by the bookkeeping method of issuing state warrants, which are registered and used for paying bills. These warrants bear interest and are in themselves a part of the considerable cost of government.

It looks as if our duly elected representatives at both Sacramento and Washington are devoting too much study to new theories of economics and not enough to new methods of economy. The huge expenses are bad enough in themselves; they're doubly bad in view of the fact that we aren't getting our money's worth.

King Edward bought a new car, but the cable doesn't tell how much the dealer allowed him on the old one or how he financed it.

Civil Service vs. Spoils System

SECRETARY GEORGE CLAIRE of the state personnel board warns California's 19,000 state civil service employees that they must refrain from "improper" activities in politics, or lose their jobs.

What a pleasant contrast to the policy of the gigantic federal spoils system among non-civil service workers! If the political appointees of President Roosevelt's Jim Farley do not devote time and money enthusiastically to campaign activities, they stand a big chance of being thrown out on their ears to make a job for somebody who will. And it has been almost as bad under every administration since Andrew Jackson's—Democratic or Republican.

The spoils racket is the rotten spot in American party politics. It must be knifed out by widespread extension of the civil service system.

Those Nazis at least will know the Star Spangled Banner by heart before the games are over.

Weak Pawns of Mars

REDUCING the compulsory military service age limit from 21 to 19 years, Soviet Russia plans to add a million or so boys to her army. The Russians are deathly afraid of Imperialistic Japan and Nazi Germany.

In order to offset the increase, Japs and Germans, of course, will expand their armed forces. And so a full-fledged armaments race gets new stimulus—just like the betting in a wild poker game where one man raises the other two white chips and his opponent comes back with four—and the sky's the limit.

The United States, as we have pointed out before, is in the same kind of race with Japan and England, only with battleships instead of armies. Could anything be more stupid? Confiscating the wealth of the people in times of peace in order to kill them more efficiently in periods of war.

Almost any man can be polite when making a touch.

That Athletic Temperament

RETIREMENT of the Peruvian soccer team in a huff and the threatened withdrawal of the American, English and French boxing squads from competition in the Olympics shows that athletes and umpires are alike the world over.

The incident involves that fatal triangle in sports, where members of one team get the idea that the umpire is cheating for the other side. And if they can't have a new umpire, they won't play any more.

Only one angle seems to be missing from this wrangle.
That is a shower of pop bottles—or beer steins—from the Berlin bleachers.

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

O. O. McIntyre

The writer the reading public knows best as Max Brand is America's No. 1 prolific literateur. He has the readiest market and at 44 turns out more salable fiction than even the fabul-Hugo. There is scarcely a magazine issue that does not bear
one of his pseudonyms.

Sometimes a periodical under his various nom de plumes has carried as many as five yarns. A pipe-smoking, retiring sort of fellow, he is a discovery—as what fictioneer is not?—of Bob Davis, who bought his first story for old Argosy for $22 when Brand came out of California to the big town.

He writes mostly of the daring riders of the purple sage, the two-gun vaillants who live and die in saddle. But he can write of the polished adventurers who live in the glossy capitals of the world, wears monacles and broad a all over the lot. He lives in a villa at Florence.

Max Brand is also known as Evan Evans and many have read him as George Chellis, George Owen Baxter, John Frederick, etc.
Recently a Saturday Evening Post story ran under his real name: Frederick Faust. He is reputed to make $100,000 a year and can turn out a three-act serial in a morning.

There is a snug harbor close to the New York heartbeats I have learned about through the kindly note of a poet, a harbor chivied out of a city's ruff-suff for dreamers. It is Ft. Tryon park, a gift of the Rockefeller. One reaches it on a No. 4 bus and at sundown, being opposite the shifting purples of the woody Palisades, it is best. There's a spick cafeteria and lovely gardens, artistically laid out, a wind of gravel walks, and just a peep beyond is where they are building the New Cloisters, George Gray Barnard's place. The view from the right is reminiscent of that entrancing vista from the white steps of Sacre Coeur on Montmartre's highest peak as all Paris dances below in flavescent twinkle. On the left, the spidery span of the Washington bridge, the lordly Hudson, dotted with side wheelers and other memories of a not too mechanical age when there was leisure in the world and cheerful souls spent a week-end in taylor.

No New York street has in-duged the sudden pomp of Madison avenue during the past few years. With the car tracks torn up and the deep-cushioned buses, Madison ripples along with the splendor of rue de la Paix. It has almost given Fifth the count as a shopping center. Only the spiffy botiques of the Rockefeller Plaza and the Fifth avenue association's strenuous fight to keep signs from hanging over the sidewalk save the avenue of avenues from the low mockery of A Street That Was.

There never was a more storybook Broadway—one imagines his composite has spangled many a Damon Runyon tale—than Tom O'Rourke, who dropped dead so dramatically in Schmeidler's dressing room a few minutes before the fight. Twenty years ago O'Rourke was the perfect model of the slashing devil-may-care sports promoter. I remember him in front of the old Metropole with his small waxed mustache, white vest and glittering lodge pin. He was pot-bellied, pig-eyed, short-legged and toed in, a human gar-goyle, always impeccably attired, even to a flower in his lapel. He was a good humoredly javelined by Tad and Robert Egan for somewhat shady practices so general in those days. Indeed he was one of the robber barons of the sporting world, and lived—mirable dictu!—to the ripe age of 84. An unctuous, flattering dude to his last breath.

A larger poet concerns the continued chessy cat smiling of Doug Jr., and Francis Lederer. I feel like yelling for them to go dead pan, just for the heck of it. If silver smiles through another picture, I'm going to write a sharp letter to the Times.

One of my favorite announcers is the journalistic Brummel, Ed Hill, but he ought to make up his mind whether he is going to drop his r's. In his present uncertainty he is shedding them, hit-miss fashion. It must be hard for a hor-Hosier—his town is Aurora, Ind.— to shake off the native burr and try to go Oxford. Richard Bennett and Clifton Webb are exceptions, both being taken for Britishers. Hill is, of course, genflecting to studio demands, but we hope he remains authentic Aurora.

Developed in France, a novel resuscitator can give artificial respiration for long periods of time to save the life of a victim of submersion. The subject is laid prone on his chest and stomach,

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—The President's forthcoming dust-bowl trip will be quite a circus, and the conference with Governor Landon is only one of the acts.

The President has a big surprise up his sleeve. It is a spectacular "show beat" journey down the Mississippi river on one of the vessels of the government's inland water fleet.

Accompanied by three or four members of his cabinet, conservation experts, and a large entourage of reporters and camera men, the President plans to steam down the river and make numerous stops on the way.

The trip will start at Minneapolis and go as far south as Memphis, Tenn. Among the cities to be visited will be St. Louis, Cairo, Ill., Dubuque, Ia., and La Crosse, Wis. It is also possible that from Memphis the President may retrace his steps to Cairo and go up the Ohio for stops at Louisville, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

En route the President will invite state and local officials to accompany him. At the various stops he will hold conferences and say a few words to the assembled populace.

TIMID

Somebody asked Harold Ickes if he had made any bets on the election. Here is his answer:

"I never bet. I have never made but one election prediction, and I was so covered with confusion after the results were known that I'll never make another.

"My fault was that I had completely underestimated the majority we won by."

STRAW BALLOONS

The Democratic campaign high command is preparing a blast against election polls.

The straw ballots have been getting in the New Dealer's hair.
They assert most of them are loaded against the regime, that their real purpose is not to obtain an accurate sample of public sentiment but to propagandize against the administration.

A group of statisticians have been reeking up on various national and local polls, and their findings will shortly be unloosed in a nationwide radio speech by a top-rung New Dealer.

One poll that will come in for a vigorous drubbing is the one conducted by the Farm Journal. This is an old publication that last spring was bought by Joseph N.
Pew, of Philadelphia, multi-millionaire head of the Sun Oil company, and one of the "big three"
Republican bosses of Pennsylvania.

In the announcement of the first results of its poll on various nationally credited Governor Landon with receiving 54.7 per cent of the rural vote as against 45 per cent for Roosevelt.

But the New Dealers say that a close study of the farm paper's figures revealed these discrediting facts:

That the poll covers only 32 states, although this was not stated in its announcements.

That only three southern states were polled, while seven other sure-fire southern Democratic states were not.

That while the poll was fanfared as a farmers' ballot, actually few farmers were polled. For example: Texas with 501,017 farms showed returns from only 155 growers, while New York with 177,025 farmers was listed with 3,946 voters. Also, Minnesota with 203,302 farms was recorded with only 1,346 votes, Missouri with 278,454 farms 6,701 votes, Iowa with 221,986 farms 2,577 votes, and Arkansas with 253,506 farms only 92 votes.

Note: A bill was introduced in the house in the closing weeks of the last session calling for an investigation of straw ballots. It got nowhere, was shelved in committee.

ANIMAL LOVERS

Henry Wallace still has the little pigs around his neck.

He admits privately that nothing has brought him more trouble, in these three long years, than the A.A.A. pig-slaughterer program. He has been relentlessly pursued, in all parts of the country, by people who can't seem to get over the heartache they feel for the little pigs.

He thought the matter was past and forgotten until the other day, when he was speaking in Chicago.
After his main speech, he asked if there were any questions. A lady bobbed up in the back of the hall and called out in an offended tone,
"How about the little pigs?"

Henry is afraid a lot of people are going to vote for the little pigs, and against Roosevelt.

STORM SIGNALS

Townsend is signs that Dr. Francis Townsend is encountering stiff resistance to his plan to stampee his oldest followers into the camp of Representative William Lemke.

Emil G. Schaffnit, prominent northern California Townsendite organizer and leader, the other day issued a scorching statement declaring it "was time to call a halt to the way things are going on in our movement."

"The empty, slurring oratory of some of the demagogues and spellbinders who are now in the Townsend movement," Schaffnit said,
"is getting us nowhere, and these people are not fooling the rank and file of the club members. They are not sheep, and contrary to the opinion of certain people, they will not allow themselves to be fooled or be made fools of."

"And there are scores of other Townsend leaders," the Californian concluded, "who feel the same as I do."

OLD BECK

The forthcoming yearbook of the department of agriculture will tell the story of "Old Beck," the mule who kicked over mule nature by being fertile.

Except in rare cases, mules are incapable of reproduction, and they would soon die out if not reproduced by new crosses of mares and jackasses.

But Old Beck is the rare case.
The yearbook reports that after twice failing to foal when bred with a jack, she upset tradition by foaling a horse-like colt when bred to a saddle stallion. The colt grew to be a horse of average size,
"strong, healthy and amorous," according to the yearbook report.

Then Old Beck was bred again
—this time to a jack. The result was a creature that looked more like a mule than a horse, and it had only one eye, in the middle of the forehead!

The fertility of Old Beck makes breeders wonder whether she is really a mule after all. They hope she is, and that they can find more like her. They would make history if they could find a breeding strain of mules.

CIGARET FIRE HAZARD

To the Editor: Certain manufacturers of cigars and cigarettes are making and treating their products so that when they are lighted they burn and won't go out, that's to increase their sales.
It is these when once lighted are thrown away carelessly that is causing millions of dollars in damage by starting fires.

Prevent the transportation, im-such within this state and you will stop most of the forest fires.

STUDYING COOPERATIVES

(The Louisville Courier-Journal)
The Federal commission to study the cooperatives abroad has sailed. Its obvious purpose is to ascertain whether their various methods of organization and operation offer any improvements that can be adapted to the advantage of American cooperatives. That is intelligent action. Common sense always obtains all the benefit it can from the experience of others.

Business, art and professions learn day when no European, Chinese or Japanese commission is over here studying American methods.

One Man's Opinion

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Britain's Visible Evidence of Strength

GIBRALTAR, symbol of power and stability, figures promi-nently in the day's news. The frowning fortress, for more than 200 years Britain's challenge to the world, is circled by the Spanish revolt. Warfare in the air has robbed land bases of their strength. Modern battleships can pass through the straits without serious damage from Gibraltar's guns. More as a matter of imperial pride, as a visible evidence of world-flung controls, than a vital point of defense does Britain cling to that bit of rock, upthrust at the limits of the ancient world.

The Pillars of Hercules were famous in ancient story. They formed the outposts of ancient navigation. The ships of Phoenicia, mother of mariners, brought goods from the land of Tarshish, somewhere on the coast of Spain.
Perhaps, these sturdy navigators braved the dangers of the Atlantic, exchanging products from the loom of Asia, for the tin of Britain. The mines of Cornwall, reaching far under the sea, were favorite sources of the shiny metal, so necessary for the making of bronze and brass. They contributed, no doubt, to the brazen vessels in the temple of Solomon.

The Pillars, Gibraltar and Cuta-ta, face each other across only 10 miles of water. This narrow strait separates two worlds—the Africa of antiquity, with its civilizations of Carthaginians, Arabs and Moors from the European world of Romans, Goths and Spaniards.

East and West have often met in regard to this towering rock. The historic curtain has risen and fallen again and again on the treacherous currents which swirl at its base.

In 1704, during the first of the Spanish succession, the war of modern world war, a combined British and Dutch fleet wrested the rock from Spain. At the close of hostilities, the British kept it and have held it ever since. Loss of the fortress was a mortal blow to Spanish pride. The British have regarded the fortress as a vital link in their communications with the Far East. They have used every means to make it the most powerful stronghold in the world.

During another world war, of which the American war for independence was a part, the Spanish and French made desperate attempts to capture Gibraltar. The siege lasted nearly four years, one of the longest and most ghastly in military history, 1779 to 1783.
While Britain gave up claim to the American colonies she has never relinquished other imperial territories. Perhaps, modern warfare will prove Gibraltar to be utterly useless for purposes of imperial defense.

In incipient blaze which, through the arduous effort of Claude Lind-failed to agitate the fire depart-without much damage to the re-

They will be available to contracpraiser views the ruins. Well, if you insist on throwing cigarette

in the old town.

Joe Jahraus of Laguna Beach was in Santa Ana early part of the week. He did not know it but he came to attend a service club meeting at which the speaker delivered the same address Joe heard at Laguna.

Frank Harwood, who works for Jim Farley and more than 30,000 Santa Anans, is spending part of his vacation with the Hopi Indians.
He sends me a card. But I should complain! I asked for it. His rating for reliability is up a point, and I have listed him in the appreciation column as tops, because he did not say a word about fish, or send a card with a fish on it.
But god ding it, I am not sure there is much of an improvement after all. His communication shows a lot of Indians puttin' on a snake dance, and I don't like snakes any better than I like fish.
And then when he said "after seeing the Indians I made him homesick to see you," well, about the only thing I can do is to give all my business to the substitution.

Autoist makes emergency stop at Third and Main. The fellow has no emergency brakes. You know what happened. The fellow without emergency brakes runs into the fellow who had 'em. The audience: "Didn't I hear a noise?"
But they only heard half of it.
The other crash was between the parties involved.

Les Fountain came in to tell me that at a very near date he will present a preview of "Green Pastures" and proposes to extend to the Ministerial alliance an invitation to witness the performance.
He wanted me to be there, but he neglected to say whether my invitation was on account of the ministerial presence, or whether I should have a better acquaintance with "De Lawd." If I put in three hours at a picture show it's got to be good to get my endorsement, even if "De Lawd" is in it.

Once upon a time there appeared before a service club a speaker who forgot that he had delivered the same address on a previous occasion, but the audience did not.
Which recalls that there are also two kind of actors, and other incidents calculated to arouse some suspicion that memory goes dormant on occasions.

Crossing the street with J. P.
Greecy it was the unanimous decision of the pedestrians that automobiles want to take care of the streets, and that is all right, but they wanted to use them most of the time. And J. P. can remember when automobiles only used them occasionally. Wouldn't he be surprised if he wasn't able to recall when the horse and buggy was the common method of vehiculation. If you go back to when Orange county selected its first county superintendent of schools (and it was Greecy) it is easy to imagine the mode of travel.
That was when Greecy came west.

There's a spark or two left in the brotherhood of man program.
Physical misfortune hits the weak and the strong. When you are going for a walk along with those who are able to take care of themselves, but when the old machine fails to function then you need a mechanic, and that mechanic is your fellow man. Too often that is the time you avoid pride if he can't answer for I discover a fellowman who needs help, and another fellowman who did not run out on him, but con-

it was, life still holds its tradi-
